

Batch Activity Monitor

For use with ABBYY FormReader 6.5 Enterprise

There are often several people interested in seeing how well documents are progressing through FormReader Enterprise. Only one instance of the FormReader Export and Monitoring Workstation can be running at a time, and this interface provides the information that supervisors and managers want to view. Batch Activity Monitor provides a similar view so that they can see which batches of interest to them are flowing well and which operators are currently working on them. They are able to view such progress without interfering in production.

All rows in the view can be sorted by clicking on the column heading. Filters can be established to view only specific batches or queues of interest to them. They can also limit their view to a specific date range. These settings are saved and persist until changed, but they can toggle the view to see all batches via the menu or pressing ...

F5 - refreshes the current view

F6 - shows the filtered view

F7 - shows all batches

Batch Activity Monitor is easy to setup and use. If you need additional technical information, please click on the download link below for documentation.
